Forecast for Wednesday 29 Jun 2022

Weather: Mostly dry and rather cloudy overnight but perhaps a little patchy rain towards morning. The afternoon will be brighter with more in the way of sunny intervals, but also the chance of a few heavy showers, which could be quite lengthy if caught in one due to the lighter winds. A few showers possible into the evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 700m: 60% at first rising more than 90% from mid morning.

Low cloud and visibility: Some cloud down to 600m or so at first in the morning with poor visibility on the tops then cloud lifting above the summits from mid morning, Generally good visibility underneath but reducing to a few kilometres in any heavier showers.
